

MRS. WILSON BURIED IN GIRLHOOD HOME IN GEORGIA TOWN

Final Funeral Ceremonies at Rome Simple and Brief—
Southerners Pay Tribute.

ROME, Ga., Aug. 11.—Simplicity marked the funeral of Mrs. Woodrow Wilson here today. In deference to the wishes of the President, the services were brief. There was a 45-minute service at the First Presbyterian Church, where Mrs. Wilson's father, Rev. Dr. Edward S. Axson, was pastor for seventeen years, and an even shorter ceremony at Myrtle Hill Cemetery.

Rome, the girlhood home of Mrs. Wilson, was in sombre attire on the arrival of the funeral train from Washington. Buildings in the business district and many residence sections were draped in black. Traffic was closed early on the streets through which the procession was to pass from the railway station to the church and from the church to the cemetery. Special policemen and national guardsmen patrolled the quiet streets.

Because of the limited capacity of the church only members of the family and close friends were invited to be present. On arrival of the funeral train at 2.30 P. M. the casket was placed in a waiting hearse, and the funeral party went direct to the church, where a simple service was held. Two of the old hymns which were Mrs. Wilson's favorites as a girl were sung. Rev. Sylvester Beach of Princeton, N. J., and the local preacher, Rev. Dr. G. Snyder, conducted the ceremonies.

From the church the funeral procession went to Myrtle Hill Cemetery. At either side of the streets through which the cortege passed schoolgirls stood, holding laurel branches. As at the church, the services at the grave were conducted in the strictest privacy.

The body was buried by the side of Mrs. Wilson's father and mother. Six cousins of Mrs. Wilson acted as active pallbearers. They are Edward T. Brown, Atlanta; Robert Hoyt, Wade Hoyt and Nathan Hoyt, Rome, Ga.; B. After the burial the Presidential party planned to start immediately on the return journey to Washington.

ATLANTA, Ga., Aug. 11.—A silent, respectful crowd, the largest that has gathered at any point between here and Washington, assembled in this city today to meet the funeral train bearing the body of Mrs. Woodrow Wilson to its burial place at Rome, Ga., her girlhood home. The train stopped here twenty minutes. Miss Aletha S. Axson, Miss Carrie Belle Axson and Randolph Axson, cousins of Mrs. Wilson, joined the President's party here.

Absolute quiet reigned in the station while the train stood there. A few persons, for the most part close friends of the family, were admitted to the platform. The thousands who stood outside the gates remained bareheaded and silent until the train left.

The Mayor and Council of Atlanta sent a wreath of flowers and evergreens, and many floral offerings were received from private sources. All these were taken on board. During the short time that the special remained here all business at the State Capitol was suspended, the Legislature adjourning as a mark of respect to Mrs. Wilson's memory.

Since the party left Washington few persons have seen the President. He remains in the darkened funeral car, sitting beside the casket, sorrowing, silent. None has spoken to him except his daughters and Dr. Grayson. To the latter he has expressed his deep appreciation for the sympathy displayed by the people along the route from Washington.

GAINESVILLE, Ga., Aug. 11.—Sorrowfully, with bare heads and tear-stained faces, the people of her native State today paid silent tribute to Mrs. Woodrow Wilson when the train bearing her body crossed the State line. In other States the crowds were silent and respectful, but in Georgia the people, gathered at every hamlet, village and town, looked grief-stricken.

At Gainesville, the birthplace of Miss Margaret Wilson, were gathered people who knew the family in days gone by. A delegation met the train and silently offered a beautiful wreath of flowers. Tears trickled down the face of more than one on-looker.

The President glanced out from time to time, but was hidden from view. He seemed touched by the feeling shown by the people. His daughters took turns watching beside the casket, and it was difficult to get him away to eat and sleep.

The progress of the train was made known by the constant ringing of the engine bell. Church bells, some near and some distant, tolled, and in all of the towns business was suspended as the special went through.

GREENVILLE, S. C., Aug. 11.—The special train bearing the body of Mrs. Woodrow Wilson, the President and other relatives sped toward Rome, Ga., today past group after group of people who stood with heads bowed beside the railroad tracks to pay homage to the last journey of "The First Lady of the Land."

People along the route remained up through the night to watch the funeral train pass. Silent crowds of men, women and children gazed sorrowfully at the car where President Wilson kept vigil beside his dead. At Culpeper, Va., a folded Confederate flag, with a note of sympathy from the Culpeper Chapter of the United Daughters of the Confederacy, was placed on board the train. At many other places flowers were presented by groups of little children.

James Woodrow, cousin of the President, boarded the train at Spartanburg, S. C., where an unusually large crowd was at the railway.

PAUSE IN WASHINGTON DURING THE FUNERAL.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 11.—All the Government departments were closed while funeral services for Mrs. Wilson were being conducted at Rome, Ga. Congress, however, was in session, as it was the President's wish that the business of legislation should not be interrupted. Flags on

HENNESSY FOR GOVERNOR, NAMED BY HIMSELF

Mitchel, Polk and Others Disturbed to Learn He Won't Run for Comptroller.

It was announced today that John A. Hennessy would not accept the nomination for Comptroller offered by the Independent Democrats, but would go into the Democratic primaries as the straight Democratic candidate for Governor. Hennessy has been touring the State for the last three weeks. It is understood Mayor Mitchell, Collector Dudley Field Malone, Corporation Counsel Frank L. Polk and other Administration Democrats will demand a declaration from Hennessy of his position in the gubernatorial fight immediately on his return.

Independent Democrats made it plain today that the Wilson men will not risk throwing their support to Hennessy. They feel that the man who won distinction last year as a "crafty" would not be successful as a candidate in the primaries for Governor, although they believe he would be certain of nomination and election as Comptroller.

SCHOOL TEACHERS FIRST TO BE BROUGHT BACK, SECRETARY GARRISON SAYS

WASHINGTON, Aug. 11.—Hopes of young America that the opening of school might be delayed by the absence of thousands of American teachers in Europe were shattered today when Secretary of War Garrison said first consideration would be given to the problem of bringing the teachers back. Not only school teachers, but all travelers of moderate means will be provided passage home first, Secretary Garrison said.

Travellers of larger means, to whom the expense of remaining abroad a month or so longer means nothing, will be asked by Government agents in charge of the transportation problem to stand aside and wait for later boats.
